Remembrance Day, 1936

IN COMMEMORATION OF THOSE WHO LAID DOWN THEIR LIVES FOR THEIR COUNTRY

"But each one, man by man, has won imperishable praise, each has earned a glorious grave — not that spelt by each wherein they lie, but the living tomb of everlasting remembrance wherein their glory is established, remembrance that will live on the lips, that will bloom in the deeds of their countrymen and the world over. For the whole world is the sepulchre of heroes; monuments may rise and tablets be set up to them in their own land, but on far-off shores there is an abiding memorial that no pen or chisel has traced; it is etched on stone or brass, but on the living heart of humanity. Take those men, then, for your examples. Like them, remember that prosperity can be only for the free, that freedom is the possession of those alone who have courage to defend it."

—From the oration of Pericles in praise of fallen heroes of Athens

After crossing the Atlantic Ocean from Canada in the 26-foot ketch Orenda in 56 days Arthur Smith, 32, and Alan Battersby, 28, both of Toronto, landed on the South coast of England. They had been presumed dead for three weeks after a ship reported seeing the frail craft abandoned in mid-Atlantic.

This Week . . . From This Corner —

Those who are not listening to, or looking at, the great crisis across the seas, are definitely in the minority. At time of writing it is almost certain that men and countries will be using armed force to achieve what they believe to be right, while we here honor our war dead on Sunday. Those who have gone before have paid the supreme sacrifice — we shudder to think of how many more may have to follow the same trail, should a quick solution to the problem not be found.

This Week . . . From This Corner —

A lot of work and money went into the laying of new sidewalks around these parts during the summer, but when the first snowfall hit us you'd never know that changes had been made. The white stuff fell and lay over the new walks, with no effort made by most home-owners to clear their immediate area. There must be something in the town by-laws that could lay a penalty on those who don't use their snow shovels a bit more. If there isn't, there should be!

This Week . . . From This Corner —

The next Blood Donor Clinic in this area will be held later this month, November 22 to be exact. With blood flowing freely in other parts of the world, in a different cause, don't you think there should be a lot flowing here on the above date — in a life-saving cause?

This Week . . . From This Corner —

Hallowe'en pranks got a bit out of hand here last week and the destructive crews must feel mighty proud of their accomplishments. Tipping over a building on the premises of an elderly lady, burning and carrying away 60 bales of good feed from a farmer, damaging stop signs, etc. There were a couple of contingents from outside, Olds and Carstairs, who are reported to have caused more than a bit of the mayhem. Let's lock the door to them the next time around.

This Week . . . From This Corner —

If you haven't driven past the hospital lately we'll let you in on the big deal — that hole in the ground signifies the start of construction on the new addition. Should the weather remain half reasonable the contractors will have little trouble in completing the job on schedule. Oh happy days!

This Week . . . From This Corner —

We like this one which, to our mind, makes a lot of sense: "Seize each opportunity to help the other man. Welcome every chance to do a good turn where you can. Go out of your way to say a word of kindness — something to relieve the strain, the burden and the stress. Never let a day slip by unmarked by some good thing — a chance of doing something that will lighten someone's load."

"UNFINISHED BUSINESS"

An elderly person when exhorting another to forgive and forget a certain slight said: "I remember a hundred slights which I have forgotten." Each Remembrance Day challenges each person to re-evaluate the content of memory. This matter of deciding what should be remembered and what should be forgotten, is ever unfinished business. There are always "slips like lilies dropping sweet smelling myrrh" to be remembered and always thorn pricks to be forgotten.

In 1913 the two ideas, first, that everything was growing better; second, that world trade was becoming so important, had so mastered the minds of the people, that it left them unable to conceive of a coming year. Eight young men sat around a dining room table when the university opened in the fall of 1914. Before Christmas of that year six of the eight were in training. War had already begun. Not one of those men lived to come home. One of these six was the first to pay the supreme sacrifice from among the enlisted students which, by that time, numbered in the hundreds. The professor in charge of the service of remembrance held for him, said: "We are a young university but already our traditions are written in blood. The courage, and the willingness to sacrifice, which has always been a live asset in Canadian life, is not wanting in this institution."

A few weeks later the first disabled soldier from among the men overseas who had gone from this university came home. He visited the university. He was asked to say something about his war experience, to which he made a reply somewhat like this: "I am very unhappy at home. I should be happier in the trenches sharing the difficulties with the boys. I am happy, however, to see how just the real agonies of war are known here in Canada."

Nineteen-Eighteen was the year of the "flu. Many will never forget the unmeasurable kindnesses, and the almost impossible services and sacrifices that so heroically marked the struggle for life here on the home front.

The Armistice came, and some time later the Peace treaty. The ink of the signers was scarcely dry before the treaty was violated. Looking back now one wonders why the Second War was so long delayed. The war that was to end wars had failed.

The wheels of time could not be turned back to 1914, as many felt they would be. Thus, there have been any good old days good enough. Then there were those who sought unjust advantages. There were others who cried for revenge. These destroyed the League of Nations.

Sir Edmund Burke, in his speech on reconciliation, given in the House of Commons during a debate in 1778 said: "There is no way to punish a whole people." The world has not yet learned the significance of that truth. World War II was bound to be brutal and the cold war has been holding the world in its icy grip ever since.

There is no need to recall here the critical and testing experience of our men abroad. Neither need we mention in detail the many vital challenges that confronted our Canadian people at home. It is well to remember at this season that the courage and the willingness, of young and old alike, to serve and sacrifice, remained always at a high level.

The Old Testament prophet has given us some principles that could well be remembered with profit at this time. He said: make over all your implements of war into machinery to develop your land and cultivate your soil. Man can feed the hungry and make them peaceful but no portions of the race can ever force peace, no matter how deadly their war machinery may be. A vital courage and a willingness to sacrifice was never more needed, at any period in the history of our beloved Canada, than it is at this Remembrance Day. But let us not be deceived. Courage and the willingness to suffer and to sacrifice is as necessary and as vital in a bloodless battle for partnership and goodwill, as it has ever been on any blood strewn field of battle; and just as genuine. The battle for peace is unfinished business.

Let us not forget our fallen heroes. The men who died that we might live.

"They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old;
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun, and in the morning,
We will remember them."

ANOTHER INNOVATION BY THE REDS . . . AUTOMOBILE IS IN !!!

At a party celebration in Leningrad, a guest found a piece of rubber tire in his stew. About to complain, he noticed a secret police official watching him.

"Well, everything is going according to our calculations," he said. "Here we've been in power only 38 years and already the automobile is replacing the horse."

NOTES

W. K. SNYDER
Agricultural Service Board

Help Them Survive This Winter: Evergreens, fruit trees and shrubs enhance the beauty and value of a farm. It is only natural then that some protection should be provided for the trees against winter killing. After eight to 10 degrees of frost has occurred or when all danger of stimulating growth is past, the trees should be given a thorough watering, says F. D. McAlla, supervisor of horticulture for Alberta's department of agriculture.

Not all winter killing is caused by low temperatures. A great deal of damage is caused each year by a loss of moisture from the plants. This can only be replenished from the soil. For this reason, it is important for the plants to have an adequate supply of moisture late in the fall.

Help your trees to help themselves. Keep them alive. The danger from winter killing can be materially reduced by a thorough watering at this time, before winter freeze-up sets in.

Here's what keeps the price
of gasoline
low

Why have wholesale gasoline prices increased only one-third as much as wholesale prices in general since 1935-1939?

Raw material and other costs have gone way up. Why not gasoline?

Gasoline prices have stayed down because a lot of companies are in the oil business — producing, refining and selling, more and more efficiently.

The consumer can shop around — looking for the best products at the best price.

Competition for the motorist's dollar keeps the price of gasoline low.

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fisher

Accidental deaths of farm residents have been on the increase this year.
The total, not including highway or drowning, of farm deaths was 87 at the end of September.
Fire was the biggest killer, with 17 victims and this is bound to rise
with the remaining winter months.
Every farm family should see that rubbish about buildings is removed and see that all heating units are vented, pipes clean and that insulation, etc. is in proper working order.
Farm tractors accounted for 11 deaths. In investigation of these most were caused by careless habits
and ignorance of safety operation.
Back flips and highway tractor accidents are down in number but sidetipping is away up. Bitterest tragedies with the tractor involved children, one boy eight years old was killed operating a tractor on field work. No child of such a young age should be allowed to operate or even ride on a tractor or any other farm machinery.

Among accidental deaths other factors were firearms, killing seven, poison and gas took eight lives, and other machinery accounted for six.
Farm animals caused five deaths.
Most of these accidents have been truly accidents, they were caused by careless management and fool-hardy operation of equipment. These,
therefore, could have been prevented,
and careful, well planned preventive measures are surely worthwhile
if they save a life.

In addition to this tragic toll in nine months, injuries have been great, causing hospitalization, suffering and hardship. With the colder weather approaching, be sure heating appliances and electrical wiring are in good order and safe. Do not let a motor kill you with gas by starting cars or trucks in closed buildings or sitting in parked vehicles while the motor is running.
Remember, as well as the tragedy of a death by accident, there is a lot of associated sorrow and hardships for the rest of the family — prevent this by care.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The spiritual basis for true health and peace will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday.
Key-note: The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" is the Golden Text from Romans 8:6:
"To be carnally minded is death;
but to be spiritually minded is life
and peace."
Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (265:5): "Mortals must grativate Godward; their affections and aims grow, spiritual; they must learn the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite — in order that sin and mortality may be put off."
Among the scriptural selections
the following will be read (Matthew 11:28): "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Squirrel Cage . . .

— AT LEAST
The boastful golfer claimed to have played on every course in America, Scotland and England. He belittled the small city's course that was barely 5,000 yards long.
"Why, I could play this set-up with nothing but a drive and a putt
on every hole!"
On the very first tee, the boaster
swung like the proverbial washerwoman, lopping the ball badly. As the little white sphere trickled off to the side only a few yards off its tee,
the accompanying golfer quietly remarked:
"And now for one helluva putt!"

DIFFERENT ADDITION
"Henry, darling," she murmured,
"I hardly know how to tell you, but soon — soon — there will be a third sharing our little love nest."
"Sweetheart," he cried, "are you certain?"
"Positive," she replied, "I had a letter from mother this morning;
she's coming to live with us for a month."

HERE'S HOW
A Chinese boy, learning English, is credited with this thesis on the banana.
"The banana are great fruit. He are constructed the same architectural style as sausage. Sausage is made skin of sausage are habitually consumed, while it is not advisable to eat wrapping of banana. The banana are held aloft while consumer;
sausage are usually left in reclining position. Sausage depend for creation on human being or stuffing machine, while banana are practice
product of honorable Mother Nature.
Finally, banana are strictly of vegetable kingdom, while affiliation of sausage often undecided."

LIGHT YOUR WAY
WITH BIBLE STUDY

"Let Us Forget!" These are the words that we hear these days as we prepare to commemorate November 11th, Memorial Day. What is it that we want to remember? We want to remember the sacrifice of the veterans of our nation and the tremendous price they paid to assure to us a measure of peace. We want to remember all who suffered physical or mental impairment; we want to remember the widows and orphans who mourn the loss of a husband or father; we want to remember all who paid for us the final price on the various battlefields of the world.

Remembering all this, we want to resolve not to give ourselves over to indifference, selfishness, ease, lest they have paid the price in vain.
However, as Christians, we also remember another test. St. Paul brings it to our attention when he writes in 1 Corinthians 6:20, "Ye are bought with a price." Our attention is here directed to another battle field. There we see the Son of God, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, so forth into battle for us.
We see His suffering, His cruel death. Why? To win for us, not just a measure of peace, but true and lasting peace. For through this strife He paid for our eternal redemption. And this also we dare not treat with indifference, selfishness or ease. For if we do, we shall lose the peace that our Saviour won for us.

"Let us forget!" Lest we forget our Saviour, Lest we forget these days.

Is F. U. A. Week

The co-operation of Alberta farmers will determine the success of this very important Farmers' Union membership drive. The issue is squarely up to the farmers to take this opportunity to build a strong farmers' Union.

U.F.A. Co-op, organized by farmers to serve farmers in the farm supply field, is keenly interested in the development of a strong farmers' organization. To get a fair deal for agriculture it is essential to have a farm organization with a membership representing the majority of the farmers of Alberta.

U.F.A. Co-op strongly urges all farmers and particularly its members to take an active part in F.U.A. Week. Join the Farmers' Union of Alberta. Get your neighbors to join.

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The Cremona Golf Club held its organization meeting at the home of Val Reid on October 24. The following officers were elected: president, Maxine Wigg; vice-president, Gary Taylor; secretary, Marjorie Bird; club rep., Brian Whitlow. Club membership is sixteen.

The adult committee elected were Mr. Bill Borton, Mr. Angus Cameron, Mr. Ted Wigg, Mr. Doug Bird and Mr. Dave Taylor. A delicious lunch, served by the hostess, followed the meeting.

Mrs. Marion Reid returned home on Friday, Nov. 2, after visiting at Chilliwack with the Caswells. She also spent some time at Alberni, Victoria, Anacortes and Seattle, Wash.

A congregational meeting was held in the United Church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 30. The purpose of the meeting was to elect elders. Upon a motion made by Gordon Reid and passed at the meeting, the election is to be by deferred voting. This method was suggested in an endeavor to secure a consensus of opinion from all of the church members, instead of just those at the meeting.

The Cubs and Scouts held a joint hallowe'en party in their hall on Oct. 29. Reports received by this reporter indicated that it was a super party.

The teachers of the high school and grades five to eight, held parties at the school on Wednesday, Oct. 31. A good time was had by all the students and the teachers deserve credit for a job well done.

The sympathy of the district is extended to Mrs. Claus Reid on the loss of her sister, who resided in Victoria.

The W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Alan Reid on November 2nd. Plans were completed for the annual chicken supper, to be held in the church basement on November 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. B. McElin of Calgary were Cremona visitors the tail end of last week. They visited at the home of Mr. McElin's brother, Mr. J. McElin and Mrs. J. McElin, while here. The special attraction for them was the 80th birthday party of Mr. Bruce Hunter, of Dog Pound. Lisa Jean Young came home from the Didsbury hospital on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Boyd May was burned in an accident while working on an oil rig and at present is a patient in the Calgary General hospital.

FALLEN TIMBER

(From Our Own Correspondent)

We were very sorry to hear that Marilyn Stair had the misfortune to fall and break her arm recently in one of those farm accidents.

The sympathy of the district is extended to the relatives of Mrs. Joe Dick, who passed away on Saturday. Miss Patsy Morrison was a visitor at her parental home for several days last week.

Mrs. Ruby Moore and Mrs. Rose Howton visited at the home of Mrs. Olive Admussen on Saturday.

Mrs. Leda Cooper attended the teachers' convention in Calgary last weekend, as did Mrs. E. Laft. Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGaffin and Anne were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper in Cremona Wednesday evening.

Measles are still visiting homes in the district. Fortunately the children are not very ill with them. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Howton, Danny and Jeannie, and Mrs. Lily McGaffin, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Money.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Russell and Keith were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. K. Teynor and George Teynor.

Mr. Pat McGaffin and Miss Erna Rosted were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGaffin on Friday and Saturday of last week.

PERJURY IS A SERIOUS INJURY

Sometimes it may seem easier to tell a falsehood than the truth, and even more convenient, but honesty is always the best policy, and even the little "white lie" should be shunned at all times.

In more serious cases, and where the laws of the country are involved, a falsehood can be a criminal offence — much more serious than the crime as far as punishment is concerned. When an accused person and his witness appear before a judge or magistrate, they must take a solemn oath "to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" and, with the facts of a case firmly established, justice is usually carried out by our courts.

The above instance was proved recently when a minor charge of impaired driving was laid against a central Alberta motorist. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and a friend called as a witness, gave false evidence. Had the truth been told, the accused would probably have paid a nominal fine and lost the use of his driver's licence for a year. However, investigation by authorities proved the true facts and a second and much more serious charge of perjury was laid against the two men, resulting in a jail sentence of six months each.

It pays to be honest, whether in business or every day events, and the person who stays strictly within the truth will find pleasure in personal association and freedom from the worries and discomforts which are bound to arise from little incidents that have a tendency to rebound at the most unexpected times. Pincher Creek Echo

SIGNING PAPERS !!!

We wonder how many people make it a point always to sign their names in the same way. Married women in particular need to decide how they will sign their names, and then should stick to it. It would eliminate a lot of nuisance for accounts, cheques and so on.

And it would eliminate a lot of trouble for each individual if he would stick to one way of signing his name. His letters, his bonds, his income cheques would all be addressed or made out in the same way.

There would be none of the non-sense of signing his name the way it appears on the face of the cheque only then signing again for his deposit.
